Handling practices can be hazardous, so watch out!

Challenge employees to make sure their workspace is safe for everybody. Stupidity or carelessness are never excuses should "preventable" accidents occur. Just look at the poster above and see how many hazards you can count? Now count again. After learning the ground rules in this Outline, employees will be surprised how trouble-free it is to obey the rules.

Watch out around conveyors—the hazards move about!

Safe and secure stacking and storage.

Because warehouses typically contain no high-risk operations, employers often develop a false sense of safety and security. However, improper storage is extremely high risk and can cause injuries. Here is a 'storage and stacking' checklist of ideas, together with a number of questions your employees need to answer. Ask them. Employees' answers could revise some outdated management thoughts.
